Biography for: Adam Fuss

ADAM FUSS

Adam Fuss was born in London England in 1961. In 1982 Fuss moved to New York City where he currently resides. Fuss use of the cameraless photogram and the lensless pinhole camera coupled with simple manipulation of light, expand his work beyond photographys common use of simple image reproduction. Fuss work has been exhibited around the world and his photography can be found internationally in museums, galleries, as well as public and private collections.

I have an idea and then explore it. My ideas are already encoded with the requisite data about how it will work photographically. I make images in my head the same way I make them on paper. Its only when I make a picture that I have to keep looking at that I feel Ive succeeded. Ive always needed to make images that have a sense, a revelation to the viewer, namely me. -Adam Fuss
